

Nerine chairman joins STEP Private Client Awards judging panel

Nerine Trust Company Limited

5 March 2015

Nerine Group of Fiduciaries executive chairman, Keith Corbin TEP, has been asked to join the panel of judges for the 10th annual Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners (STEP) Private Client Awards.

The prestigious STEP Private Client Awards celebrate excellence in private client practice, with 17 categories open to individuals and firms globally across the industry.

The rigorous and impartial judging process by leading experts is a key feature of the awards which are widely regarded as a hallmark of quality in the private client industry.

“Mr Corbin has extensive experience in the international trust industry having managed operations in various major international financial centres over the past 40 years. He has a distinct understanding of excellence in the private client field and accepted the award for Independent Trust Company of the Year on behalf of Nerine at last year’s Private Client Awards,” said STEP chief executive David Harvey.

Nerine was named Best Independent Trust Company at the 2014 awards.

Mr Corbin said: “I am honoured to have been asked to act as a presiding judge for this prestigious event.

“These awards set the industry standard for outstanding practice in the private client world across an increasingly international arena. I am sure that this year the competition will be as strong as ever.”

Teams, firms, sole practitioners and chambers can enter the awards by completing an online form at www.stepcca.org. The awards are open to STEP members and non-members and nominations close on 30 April with finalists announced in June.

The 2015 Private Client Awards ceremony will be held on 8 September 2015 at the Park Plaza Westminster Bridge Hotel in London.