Nerine's business development executive, Naro Zimmerman, has featured in this year's 'Top 35 Under 35' list published by the leading website and news service for private client practitioners, privateclient.

Mr Zimmerman joined Nerine in 2015 after working in the trust sector in Guernsey for 10 years. He is responsible for coordinating the marketing and business development of Nerine worldwide with key responsibility for the Middle East.

He is the only male rising star to be named from Guernsey.

The Top 35 Under 35 is designed to identify, recognise, introduce and promote the rising stars of the private client professions. It also provides an opportunity for the top 35 men and 35 women to meet each other throughout the year at smaller events.

Nerine executive chairman, Keith Corbin, said: "Naro has proven to be a valuable addition to what was already a strong team and truly understands the cultural landscapes and the complexities and differences of private wealth structuring in different geographies. He has gained a vast amount of knowledge and expertise across a variety of jurisdictions and services a worldwide client base both in the private and corporate sectors. Naro's colleagues appreciate his confidence, maturity and endeavour to win clients' trust.

"The Nerine board has been extremely impressed with his commitment, motivation and eagerness to continually strive to grow and improve in his career. I believe Naro embodies all of the qualities we look for as we continue to offer excellent services to all of our clients."

A reception will be held for the 35 men and 35 women who are named on the list on Monday 26 September in London.
